

Major Taylor: Leaders Like Us Guided Reading Level

In 1896, Taylor won his first major race, the six-day race in Madison Square Garden. This victory made him a national celebrity. Taylor went on to win many more races, including the world championship in 1899.

Taylor's success was not easy. He faced racism and discrimination throughout his career. But he never gave up. He used his success to inspire others, and he became a symbol of hope for African Americans everywhere.

This book is at the Guided Reading Level L. This means that it is appropriate for students who are reading at a grade 3-4 level. The text is simple and easy to understand, and the sentences are short and concise. The book also includes many photographs and illustrations, which help to break up the text and make it more engaging for students.
